DEDICATION

PRESIDENT RAMSAY

*"A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command,
And yet a spirit still, and bright,
With something of angelic light."*

To one upon whom God has so liberally bestowed His gifts of deep understanding, far-seeing helpfulness, and dear devotion; to one who holds a unique place in our hearts because of her perfect fellowship within our school circle, and because of her strong sympathy with problems of students and teachers; to one who has been untiring in her efforts to make Mitchell a bigger and better Mitchell—we devotedly dedicate this. THE CIRCLE of 1930, with heartfelt hope and undoubting trust in her future, and, with hers, that of Mitchell.

FOREWORD

WITHIN these pages, we, the staff of THE 1930 CIRCLE, have earnestly sought to record glimpses of our college days and to preserve some of the joyous remembrances so intimately associated with our dear old Mitchell friends. If in some future moment, a glance therein brings back fond memories of "Auld Lang Syne," our efforts will not have been in vain. Thus we present to you "THE CIRCLE" with the wish that the circle of your school days may evolve into the ever-widening, ever-upward spirit of a noble life, and that your first step in this upward movement of life's progress may be made with unfaltering faith in our motto, "What I Will, I can."

MRS. ELIASON

"But, where's the woman who counsel can bestow, Still pleased to teach, and yet not proud to know."

A womanly woman, a wise counselor, a willing helper, and a dear friend—this and much more is in the make-up of the sweet lady pictured above. It has been said that the eyes are the mirrors of the soul, but never more truly than when it is said about Mrs. Eliason; a soul overflowing with love for mankind, a brain containing the wisdom of the ages, and yet, with all this, a human heart, with a deep understanding of girlish frailties and faults. For her, we always hope and pray that only the best of the good and only the least of the worst will ever come her way.

COLLEGE

Historical Sketch

IN 1852, Concord Presbytery began formulating plans for the establishment of a college for women. Three years later the beautiful Georgian building, now standing in the central part of Statesville, was begun. When nearing completion it was partially destroyed by a storm. The work of restoration, however, was immediately undertaken and the building was completed in 1857. During the time of the restoration of the building, school was opened in temporary quarters September 15, 1856, under the name of Concord Female Seminary. Professor John D. Tinsley and his two daughters forming the first faculty. After the retirement of Professor Tinsley, the college came under the successive administrations of Professor E. W. Faucette, Rev. C. S. Millen, Rev. J. M. M. Caldwell, Rev. E. F. Rockwell, Rev. R. B. Anderson, and Rev. Taylor Martin.

In 1873, because of financial conditions, the college was sold to Mr. R. F. Simonton, of Statesville, and for the next twenty-three years was called Simonton Female College. From 1875 to 1883 Mrs. E. M. Grant was the president. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Margaret Mitchell. Upon the death of Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Fannie Everett Walton served as president for eleven years. After her retirement the property would have been lost to the Presbyterian Church but for the noble and timely aid of Rev. J. B. Shearer, D.D. He purchased the property in 1896, repaired the building and secured Captain J. B. Burwell to conduct the institution, which took the name at this time of Statesville Female College.

In 1900, Dr. Shearer deeded the property to Concord Presbytery, and for several years it was under the joint control of Concord and Mecklenburg Presbyteries. In 1907, through the generosity of Mr. W. F. Hall and other friends, a large addition was made to the original building and, in honor of Dr. J. B. Shearer, was named Shearer Music Hall. Dr. John A. Scott's successful administration dates from 1900 to 1916. He was succeeded by Mr. J. M. Moore, who served seven years. His successor was Rev. W. F. Hollingsworth. He was followed in 1924 by Rev. G. H. Ellmore and during his term of five years the college became a Standard Junior College. Mrs. W. B. Ramsay, ex-president of the Woman's Synodical Auxiliary of North Carolina, was elected president in April, 1929, and under her management the college has had a year of progress.

In the sixty-first year of the life of the college, urged by the alumnae and approved by the Trustees, Concord Presbytery changed the name of the institution to Mitchell College. The name was given as a mark of honor to Mrs. Eliza Mitchell Grant and Miss Margaret Elliott Mitchell, daughters of Dr. Elisha Mitchell, scientist, educator, and christian gentleman. These daughters of Dr. Mitchell, as women of superior culture and educators of marked ability, continue to be an inspiration for noble attainment to the institution and to all its students.

Senior Class History

Having recently finished high school as wise and dignified Seniors, we, the incoming Freshmen of Mitchell College, had at last realized our dreams of entering college for work or play!

After the field of matriculation had been thoroughly explored, each shy, green, little "Fresh" felt that one step, at least, had been made toward the visionary goal. Feeling some desire to cast anchor on a solid foundation, we answered the roll call of our wise counselor, Mrs. Eliason, and at her suggestion we selected as captain of the freshman ship, Lula Furches; first mate, Mary Elizabeth Alexander; second mate, Ruby Bowles; purser, Sarah Matthews. With these efficient officers, we embarked upon a one year's cruise around the freshman world. During this cruise, playfulness and seriousness were blended in the social events and the inspirational chapel talks of the beloved president, Dr. Elmore.

The next fall, each Senior a "sadder and a wiser man" was beginning his tour—this time under the capable guidance of a new president, Mrs. Ramsay. Although handicapped by her short acquaintance with us, Mrs. Ramsay soon won her way into our hearts and remained enthroned there on a pedestal of love, helpfulness, goodness and kindness. Under the patient help of Mrs. Eliason, Senior class sponsor, we soon found that the heights of senordom were not so old and learned as they are proverbially known to be, but were really very, very pleasant.

As the weeks went on, the ability of this class became evident in many lives—executive, dramatic, musical and literary. This ability was proved by the choice of the leaders for the year—President, Adelaide Reed; Vice-President, Mattie Little; Secretary, Jean Quinn; Treasurer, Martha Sronce. By a unanimous vote, the class decided to attempt an annual, to be called THE CIRCLE, and with Ruby Bowles, editor, and Martha Sronce, business manager, this great undertaking was launched. Entertainments in the form of dinners for the various clubs of the town were sponsored in order to leave a parting gift for the college. As a history project, an Indian play, "The White Doe," and a Senior play, "Vanity," was presented by this class.

During the last few weeks of school, this happy band of Seniors was whirled from one round of gaiety to another, starting with the tea given by the American University Women and the Junior-Senior Prom given by the Juniors, to the final reception given by the faculty.

At last, when the last dress had been packed and the last farewell kiss had been exchanged, these Seniors, so distantly scattered in body but so closely akin in spirit, took one last tearful glance at the blessed old building with its stately portals and set their feet on the circle so frequently trod by them, typically portraying their first step on the ever-ascending circle of their future life. Then, they were gone, that sweet class, that beloved class! Gone but not forgotten!

Senior Class Prophecy

It is the year 1940. During the ten years since I was a Senior, Mitchell College has made wonderful progress. Under the wise leadership of Mrs. Ramsay, who by the way is still president, the institution grew from the position it held in 1930—that of an accredited Junior College, to its present rating as one of the leading senior colleges of the South. The feeling of "homesickness" for college days must have been felt simultaneously by all my classmates, for when the suggestion for a class reunion was broached, the idea was most enthusiastically received.

Plans were made at length, and we decided to hold our reunion at the time of the dedication of our new library, which had been given by a fat old trustee whose great aunt had graduated there in the seventies.

In due time we assembled and oh! what a meeting we had. During the course of the meeting we decided to compile an informal account of our reunion, together with a short sketch of all the members of our class, in a small pamphlet, a copy of which was to be given to each classmate, and one copy to be put in the new library. As secretary of the class of '30 it fell to my lot to write an account of the reunion and information concerning each of the alumnae.

Ruby Bowles, a great osteopath, was unable to come, but she sent her regrets as well as a substantial check for library books.

Elizabeth Bunch, our "original" member, was likewise unable to attend, but she sent us a book of poems, based upon her personal experiences as a medical missionary in Mandalay.

Mattie Little and Adelaide Reed, both "movie" stars now, brought with them their latest picture, a romance of college life based on their college days at Mitchell.

Mary Elizabeth Alexander, a nurse at Mayo's hospital, was unable to be present as she is too much attached to her work.

An artistic touch was added to the occasion by Pearl Pritchard's arrival in a beret and smock. Pearl is an artist in Greenwich village.

Lois Knox and Emma McKinney came all the way from Hollywood, Cal., where they are directing the picture about life at Mitchell ten years ago. The theme song is our Alma Mater.

Lottie Williams has married a college professor. He must be traditionally absent-minded, though, as he forgot to come with her.

Ruby Gordon and Mary Cline are matrons in an orphanage for "Children of Divorce" and as they could not leave their charges, they packed them in a trunk and brought them along.

Wilma Miller, now a hostess in a notorious night club in Havana, Cuba, was here.

We had a most beautiful concert one afternoon, by a famous orchestra, the first ever conducted by a woman, and by none other than our own Irene Swaim.

One day we were surprised by the descent of a balloon, containing Grace Harris and Vallie Harmon. They are aviatrixes and took us all for a ride.

Louise Patterson was here, as "brown as a berry," having just left her husband's people at the "Shores." Her husband is an "Earle," but he couldn't come as he was "Busse" (busy).

Mildred Cowan is married to a traveling salesman. Her housekeeping duties do not worry her, however, for she may be seen on the tennis court every day the sun "shines" and she got quite a kick out of playing on the Mitchell courts once again.

Lula Furches married an executive in a big mill and has a summer home between here and Charlotte. She had us all down one afternoon to a tea, given in her garden.

Fannie Gilliam has just divorced her first husband because life on an experimental farm was too boring, but she is reported to be engaged to a famous boxer.

Martha Sronce is still "babbling" around in Battle Creek.

Mary Wood Thompson and Irene Smith are in the "Follies of 1940" and are the toast of New York.

One number on our program was a group of original selections played by Mildred Alexander, who has given up pipe organ and started composing popular music on "Tin Pan Alley."

Addie Campbell is a bathing beauty in Rio de Janerio and is married to a "nautical but nice" deep sea diver.

Margaret Cathey was, also, unable to be present as her job as a policewoman in Chinatown, N. Y., is very confining.

Louise Litaker and Elizabeth Ritchie are running a prep school for boys and brought a bus full of them along, for the entertainment of the present students at Mitchell.

Geneva Player, Martha Knox and Jessie Beaver are playing in a recent revival of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Oma McDaniel is a famous singer and is taking donations to found a home for singers whose voices have failed them.

I, Jean Quinn, was at the reunion, as I would be anywhere there is anything doing.

The progress of our college has been truly marvelous. We are all proud of it and are looking forward to another reunion soon. Meanwhile we wish to be of as much service as possible to our Alma Mater.—JEAN QUINN, Class Prophet.

Last Will and Testament

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

*County of Iredell,
City of Statesville.*

We, the Senior class of Mitchell College, being of sound mind and good judgment, knowing that our days here are numbered, have a vast quantity of valuable property accumulated of which we must dispose. We name as guardian of our heirs, Mr. Kirkpatrick, as he has proved himself master of business situations. We hope to be impartial in dividing our cherished treasures and that the beneficiaries will esteem and preserve them in the future as we have heretofore.

- Item 1. I, Mary Elizabeth Alexander, leave my executive ability to Nancy Knight.
- Item 2. I, Jean Quinn, do turn over my brilliant and original mind to Helen Vincent.
- Item 3. I, Ruby Bowles, will my ability to get things done to Margaret Christenbury.
- Item 4. I, Irene Swain, do will and bequeath my wit on biology class to Jean Massey.
- Item 5. I, Geneva Player, do give my avoirdupois to Mildred Patterson.
- Item 6. I, Margaret Cathey, bequeath my modest appearance to Charlye Brown Gilbert.
- Item 7. I, Oma McDaniel, leave my extreme studiousness to Annie Hines, provided she can live up to the reputation.
- Item 8. I, Lib Bunch, do bequeath my efforts to follow the "muse" to Opal Early.
- Item 9. We, Louise Patterson, Fannie Gilliam, Jean Quinn, Lula Furches, Mildred Cowan and Martha Sronce, as the official members of the "gang," leave our organization under the protection of Laura Nash.
- Item 10. I, Elizabeth Ritchie, give my fame as a satirist to Miss Brindley.
- Item 11. I, Adelaide Reed, leave my curly locks to Rebecca Ritchie if she will keep them combed.
- Item 12. I, Jessie Beaver, will my altitude to Margaret Linker.
- Item 13. I, Addie Campbell, bequeath my red hair to Alverda Miller.
- Item 14. I, Mary Wood Thompson, leave my time in Miss Mamie's office to any Junior who volunteers to stay there.
- Item 15. I, Ruby Gordon, leave my ability to put off English work to Clara Sykes.
- Item 16. I, Mildred Alexander, will my love for music to Eunice Wilkinson.
- Item 17. I, Mary Cline, give my small stature to Rachel Click.
- Item 18. We, Emma McKinney and Lois Knox, leave our great love for conversation to Kate Coleman.
- Item 19. I, Mattie Little, will my tenor voice and position in the Glee Club to Virginia Pope.
- Item 20. I, Pearl Pritchard, will my abundant hair to Pat Meehan.
- Item 21. I, Irene Smith, do bequeath my English brogue to Miss Boyce and Betty Baldwin.
- Item 22. I, Martha Knox, will my athletic honors to Agnes Hendrix.
- Item 23. I, Lottie Williams, do will my ability to camouflage my face to Pauline Bumgarner.
- Item 24. I, Martha Sronce, bequeath my habit of being tardy to Ruby Nesbit.
- Item 25. I, Wilma Miller, leave my ability to giggle everywhere, every time, to Belle Allison.
- Item 26. I, Louise Litaker, will my sunny disposition to Lucille Holton.

We do hereby set our hand, sign, and seal on this the eleventh day of March in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty at exactly eight minutes and twenty-two seconds after three o'clock.

Dreamers in the Land of Youth

Hail! Ye Dreamers in the Land of Youth,
List to the Dream we relate.
Follow us through a Veil of Visions
That lie beyond the Dream Gate.

We wandered through a fairy-kept wood,
Through moss and violets meek,
Where the sunbeams played among the leaves
At a game of hide-and-seek.
The trail led us on down a still slope,
Wending its mysterious way
To the place of the nymphs' bathing pool,
Where wee elves their mischief play.

The brook murmured a slumber song,
Pictured the willows weeping,
It ferried across the summer clouds,
With sunbeams sometimes peeping.
As we came near the end of our trail,
The sunset began to fade,
Each color blended with perfection
And glorified every shade.

Yet a sadness was cast o'er our hearts,
For the melody we heard,
Sadder and stranger, full of sorrow,
Came from the heart of a bird.
'Twas a veery thrush who played for us,
The song that still endears,
"A flute of silver in which some strange
Magician had hidden tears."

We found the end of our winding trail,
A gleaming Gate was in view,
Our journey was ended in the wood,
We would travel highways new.
We soon will pass through this Gate of Dreams,
That leads from the Land of Youth,
And whither it leads us, we know not,
We are ever seeking Truth.

In our darkest hour, we shall not fear,
But patiently wait for Dawn,
Still just Dreamers in the Land of Youth,
For the Dream ever goes on.

ELIZABETH BUNCH, '30.

School teachers and school girls have to go to a store of some kind for their various needs, and most all of them go to a hardware store for their knives and scissors.

We want you to visit our store. While your hardware needs may not be so great while in school, later you will need many things in our line, so come in and get acquainted with a hardware store. You may like us.

WE TRY TO PLEASE!
